9th EHRMCC

EUROPEAN HUMAN RIGHTS MOOT COURT COMPETITION

1. WHAT IS THE EUROPEAN HUMAN RIGHTS MOOT COURT COMPETITION?

History

The first edition of the European Human Rights Moot Court (EHRMCC) was organised in February 2013. The aim was to supply students with the opportunity to gain insight in the principles and implementation of the European Convention of Human Rights and gain practical experience in the field. The Competition simulates the experience of pleading a case before the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR). Lastly, European Human Rights Moot Court Competition (EHRMCC) became the largest English-speaking human rights moot court competition in the world.

Structure

The Teams examine a fictive case written by human rights professionals and draft a set of Written Submissions for Applicant and Respondent respectively. Experts from the Council of Europe, the European Human Rights Association, and the European Court of Human Rights score the Written Submissions. Furthermore, all teams take part in one of the three mandatory Regional Rounds organised by ELSA Groups. Regional Rounds of the 9th EHRMCC will be held in Maastricht (the Netherlands), Lisbon (Portugal) and Cluj-Napoca (Romania).

The best 18 Teams based on their performance in the Written Submissions and the Regional Rounds get a chance to plead in the Final Oral Round which takes place in the Council of Europe and the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, France. The Competition is held entirely in English. The Competition is open to all law students in ELSA Member Countries as well as Council of Europe Member Countries.

Prizes

Every member of the Winning Team is invited for the traineeship at the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, and the best Orator of the Grand Final is invited for a traineeship at the Council of Europe's Liaison Office in Brussels.

2. HOW CAN YOU PROMOTE THIS EVENT AMONGST YOUR MEMBERS?

Share the promotional materials of ELSA's Facebook page and Instagram page. Do not limit yourself to sharing it merely with the Facebook page of your Group – you can also share the post yourself and encourage your Board, Directors, Assistants and other team members to do the same.

Share the materials in relevant fora. This can be social media groups of your law faculty, social media groups of international students in your city, online fora for law students at your university etc. – be creative!

Discuss with your faculty. Focus especially on the European and/or International Law Department or even with the Human Rights Department, should your university have one. As the winning team is promoted on the website of the Council of Europe, it is a great opportunity for the faculty to gain promotion too.

Ask for the opportunity of awarding credits to the participants. In many degrees, credits are awarded for participation in international moot court competitions. Prepare well for the meeting with the dean or other person responsible for the academic programme by researching the credit system at your university looking into previous similar cases and bringing reports on previous moots. Furthermore, remember to use the reputation of ELSA as one of your main tools. Finally, recommendations from alumni, sponsoring firms, professors and former participants could assist you, if delivered in an appropriate manner and on time.

If your university decided to hold classes in person, promote the event during Human Rights-focused classes. Do not forget to ask permission of the teacher first. A short presentation or handing out brochures can help a great deal in attracting new students, both to your ELSA Group and the EHRMCC. You might even convince the professor to assist a Team (as a coach or for proofreading their Written Submissions).

Feature the event in your faculty's newsletter or magazine. Most faculties have at least one internal newsletter or magazine, reaching all students at once. It could also be worth checking if there are any specific newsletters for employees to promote the idea amongst all professors. Sometimes there is even a newsletter specifically for international students. Also, reach out to university PR services/administration and ask them to allow you to send out information about EHRMCC via university/faculty mailing list.

Approach Human Rights focused associations in your city and look into collaborating with them to promote the event. This can be as big as, for example, holding a mini moot court, or as small as asking them to promote the EHRMCC materials as well.

Hold promotional events. This can range from a general human rights-based event where the EHRMCC is mentioned, to organising an informational event specifically for ELSA's International moots (the EHRMCC and the John H. Jackson MCC), or even to organising your own moot court competition to let participants have a taste of the experience. Organising an online info session is also highly recommended. An idea is to organise a networking event for interested participants who do not have a team yet; that way they can work together in forming a team.

Ask former participants for testimonials. The words of former participants are usually much for convincing than those of organisers and hence you should use them wisely. Featuring testimonials is also nice opportunity to give former participants recognition for their hard work and efforts.

Educate other Officers. Make sure to highlight the existence of the EHRMCC as well as this document during your Council Meetings and/or Officers' Meetings. This will allow for the information to trickle down through the Network.
