Privacy Policy for National Coordinators of the Rule of Law Education Program

1 - About us

Welcome to our privacy policy ("Privacy Policy"), which outlines how we handle and safeguard your personal data when applying as a National Coordinator for the Rule of Law Education Program ("Program").

The data processing is managed by the European Law Students' Association (ELSA), located at 239 Boulevard Général Jacques 1050 Ixelles, Brussels, Belgium (referred to as "the Association", "we", "our", or "us"). The Association is responsible for the data processing activities detailed in this policy and acts as the data controller.

Unless otherwise specified in this privacy policy, the terms used here have the same definitions outlined in the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR").

2 - Personal Data Collection

Categories of Personal Data Collected

We gather and receive personal information for various purposes associated with recruitment and management of the volunteers who work with us. Specifically, we process the following categories of personal data:

- Personal Identification (e.g. name, surname, age, gender, nationality, country of residence);
- Contact details (e.g. e-mail address, phone number);
- Professional and educational information (e.g. studies pursued in the past, studies currently pursued, knowledge of the English language);
- ELSA Activity (e.g. ELSA membership status, National/Local group of affiliation, current ELSA Position);
- Content of the Specification and Evaluation Forms (e.g. number of events organised, number of participants, feedback on the Program).

You are under no obligation to provide your personal data. Nonetheless, it's important to be aware that we cannot recruit you or work with you without the essential personal data required to fulfil the contractual obligations between you and us.

How we collect personal data

We collect personal data about you in different ways, starting from the recruitment phase to your subsequent inclusion in our team.

In particular, we collect personal data either directly or indirectly from you.

Direct Collection

- When you register to participate in the Program (through the Specification and Evaluation Forms);
- While you participate in the Program.

Indirect Collection

- Information taken from social media presence (e.g. Facebook, LinkedIn).

3 - Legal Basis and Purposes

Our justification for collecting and using the personal data as outlined in this Privacy Policy is contingent on the type of personal data collected and the specific objectives for which it is gathered.

Legitimate Interests: We utilise legitimate interests as the legal basis for processing, based on our evaluation that the processing is equitable and justifiable and does not infringe upon your interests or fundamental rights and freedoms. Our legitimate interests are, in particular to:

- To allow your participation in the Rule of Law Education Program;
- To obtain information on the National/Local events organised in the context of the Rule of Law Education Program;
- To coordinate, supervise and evaluate the events organised in the context of the Rule of Law Education Program;
- To facilitate and coach the organisers of events;
- To maintain and improve the Program;
- To answer your inquiries and provide support;
- To contact you.

Legal Compliance: We process personal data when necessary to comply with legal obligations and regulations. In particular, we rely on legal compliance, to:

- To notify you about changes to our Privacy Policy;
- To comply with applicable legislation;
- For the legal enforcement of claims and rights.

4 - Data Retention

We keep personal data for the duration necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was obtained, per legal and regulatory obligations, as well as contractual agreements. Once this retention period concludes, we either delete or irreversibly anonymize your personal data.

5 - Data Transfers & Sharing

Data Recipients

We collaborate with third-party service providers to support the functioning of our services, as well as with administrative, regulatory and public authorities when there is a legal or administrative obligation we are bound to regarding the sharing of your personal data (“data recipients”). Our service providers assist in various activities, such as facilitating payments and providing IT infrastructure. They are granted access to your personal data solely to the extent required to carry out these tasks.

Types of data recipients who may access your personal data:

- Cloud Server Providers;

- Online Meeting Platforms;
- IT Software Providers;
- Auditors and payroll tax auditors.

Third-Country and International Organisation Transfers

It's worth noting that we engage service providers located in third countries, which are regions outside the EU. These third countries may not offer a level of data protection equivalent to that of the EU.

To ensure the security of your personal data during international transfers, we adhere to our contractual obligations and adhere to the applicable data protection regulations. These safeguards encompass:

- Transferring data to countries that have received an adequacy decision by the European Commission.
- Implementing standard contractual clauses provided by the European Commission, per Commission Implementing Decision \(EU\) 2021/914 of 4 June 2021, as well as supplementary measures for the transfer where we deem those measures as necessary to ensure an essentially equivalent level of protection to that of the EU.

We and/or our service providers transfer your personal data and process it in various third countries. These countries include:

- The United States of America.

In cases where the transfer to a third country is based on the usage of standard contractual clauses provided by the European Commission, you have the right to ask for a copy of the clauses under which your personal data is transferred to a third country. Bear in mind that the contract will be redacted in what concerns business secrets or other confidential information (e.g. personal data of other individuals). You may ask for the applicable copies by reaching out to: secgen@elsa.org.

In all other cases, we shall request your consent before transferring the personal data to the relevant third countries. In the event of a transfer to a third country where adequacy decisions or appropriate safeguards are absent, it is conceivable that authorities in the third country, such as intelligence services, could access the transferred data. Consequently, the enforceability of your data subject rights may not be guaranteed.

Data Disclosure

We may disclose your personal data when we have a sincere belief that such disclosure is essential for the following purposes:

- To adhere to a legal obligation, which includes cases where such disclosure is mandated by law or in response to valid requests from public authorities, such as a court or government agency.
- To safeguard the security of our services and safeguard our rights or property.
- To avert or investigate potential misconduct linked to our operations.

6 - Data Security

We implement reasonable technical and organisational security measures that we consider appropriate to safeguard your stored personal data from manipulation, loss, or unauthorised access by third parties. Our security measures are continuously updated to align with advancements in technology.

We place significant emphasis on internal data privacy. Our staff and engaged service providers are bound by confidentiality and must comply with relevant data protection laws. Moreover, they are granted access to personal data only to the extent necessary for the performance of their respective duties or obligations.

We value the security of your personal data; however, please bear in mind that no method of transmitting data over the internet or electronic storage can be guaranteed 100% secure. While we make every effort to employ commercially reasonable measures to protect your personal data, we cannot provide absolute security. We recommend employing antivirus software, firewalls, and similar tools to enhance the protection of your system.

7 - Your Rights

You possess the following data protection rights. To exercise these rights, please reach out to us at the provided address or send an email to secgen@elsa.org. Please be aware that we may ask you to verify your identity before addressing your requests.

- Right to Access: You have the right to request a copy of your personal data, which we will furnish to you in an electronic format.
- Right to Correction: You can request us to rectify any inaccuracies or incompleteness in your data.
- Right to Withdraw Consent: If you've given your consent for the processing of your personal data, you have the right to withdraw it at any time, affecting future processing, but not the lawfulness of the data processing activities before it. Once we receive your withdrawal of consent, we will no longer process your information for the purpose(s) you initially consented to, unless there exists another legal basis for processing.
- Right to Erasure: You have the right to request the deletion of your personal data when it is no longer necessary for the purposes it was collected, or if it was processed unlawfully.
- Right to Restrict Processing: You can request the limitation of our processing of your personal data in cases where you believe it to be inaccurate, processed unlawfully, or no longer needed for the original purpose, but cannot be deleted due to legal obligations or your own request.
- Right to Data Portability: You can request that we transmit your personal data to another data controller in a standard format (e.g., Excel), if you provided this data to us and we processed it based on your consent or to fulfil contractual obligations.
- Right to Object to Processing: If the legal basis for processing your personal data is our legitimate interest, you have the right to object to such processing based on your specific situation. We will respect your request, unless we have a compelling legal basis for the processing that outweighs your interests or if we need to continue processing the data for legal defence purposes.

- Right to File a Complaint with a Supervisory Authority: If you believe that the processing of your personal data violates data protection laws, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a data protection supervisory authority. In the EU and EEA, you can exercise this right by contacting a supervisory authority in your country of residence, workplace, or where you believe the infringement occurred. You can find a list of relevant authorities here: https://edpb.europa.eu/about-edpb/about-edpb/members_en.

We will provide you with an answer to your requests within 30 days of receipt. This response timeframe may be extended if the request is particularly complex, of which we will inform you promptly. Within that time frame, we will either comply with your request or provide you with the reasons why your request cannot be complied with.

8 - Changes to this Privacy Policy

Our Privacy Policy may be updated periodically. We encourage you to check this Privacy Policy from time to time for any modifications.

We furthermore put in our best efforts to inform you of any changes to this Privacy Policy, by adopting appropriate means to grab your attention to these changes. To that end, we will inform you by e-mail of any changes to this Policy that apply to you.

We ensure that we inform you before proceeding to these changes, by notifying you through the previous means at least 14 days before making the changes come into force.

Changes to this Privacy Policy become effective once they are published on this page.
