

INPUT PAPER – IFP TOPICS ELSA CZECH REPUBLIC

Sports law

- Description: As of today, the count of transgender sportspeople is rising. With that, people are asking, if it is fair to let those people compete in classic sports, as we know them. It is highly possible, that those people are suffering with mental health issues and in some ways even social responsibility. Modern legislation can not provide them equal safety. Another problematic is, if politics and regimes should interfere with the right to compete or not.
- Benefits: By choosing this topic, ELSA would point out modern Sports problematic and start a discussion of an important field of human rights, influencing nations all over the world, with a chance to change people's opinion on this topic.
- Events: Seminars and conferences, pub quizzes, institutional visits, negotiation competitions, legal debates, articles or essays etc.
- Impact: Spreading knowledge of the problematics itself, with new view on this topic. Improving people's opinions and coming up with some bright ideas how to deal with all obstacles of this topic. In the end, everybody should realize that sports are about people competing with each other, not arguing whether someone can or cannot be part of the world of sports.

Labour law in modern society:

- Description: Even in the modern world we cannot speak of equality in the sphere of work positions and behaviour at workplace. It is more than usual that people experience some kind of discrimination at work every day, and we are not speaking only about women, but about all transgender people and people with various religions, disabled people or even people with different shape of bodies etc.
- Benefits: By choosing this topic ELSA would raise awareness of these problems' sources and dive deeper into the problematic. If we spread knowledge about this topic, it should benefit everybody, because labour law is or will be included in life of all of us.
- Events: Seminar and conferences, pub quizzes, legal debates, institutional visits, negotiation competitions etc.
- Impact: Spreading knowledge and awareness of rights in sphere of labour law and human rights, helping people who already met with some kind of discrimination on job interview or even in work, and helping with possible mental health issues caused by inappropriate behaviour at workplace.

Migration & Citizenship

- Description: With the today's migration crisis in multiple regions of the world, the importance and need of effective, yet humanist and respectful migration law rises. Together with the legislation regarding citizenship, they form a strong duo influencing views of many on the wide field of human rights.
- Benefit: By choosing this topic, ELSA would be, yet again, spreading discussion and knowledge of an important field of human rights, influencing nations all over the world.
- Events: seminars and conferences, pub quizzes regarding citizenship law, institutional visits (Ministry of Interior) etc.
- Impact: Spreading fact-based knowledge in the field so strongly and intentionally influenced by fake news, and therefore improving the quality of discussion throughout the society.

International Trade and Transport

- Description: In contemporary world, the importance and influence of global trade and transportation along with regional and worldwide economic integrations rises and shows us, how important it is to have an effective regulation regarding this topic. However, in last few decades a conflict arises: economic growth v. ecology and preservation of natural wealth.

- Benefit: By choosing this topic, ELSA would involve itself in a debate resonating through the whole society all over the world by bringing up the importance of high-quality debate regarding the economic law and human rights of the people involved.
- Events: seminars and conferences, pub quizzes, institutional visits (Chamber of Commerce) etc.
- Impact: Spreading knowledge of the contemporary ways of regulation of international trade and transport and their relation to the defence of human rights.

Family law

- Description: Nowadays we tend to spend most of our time at work and we forget about the important stuff – our families. That is the reason why we would like to focus on all of the aspects of family law such as the marriage for everyone or different kinds of relationships, raising children, adoption of children by homosexual couples of gender equality in relationships and in family.
- Benefit: By choosing this topic, ELSA would be involved in an interesting debate which includes the most essential human rights and would once again help to spread awareness and knowledge about this topic.
- Events: Seminars and conferences, pub quizzes, institutional visits, negotiation competitions, legal debates, articles or essays etc.
- Impact: spreading awareness and knowledge in the field of family law and all the problems that arise from this topic. Starting a debate among young lawyers or young people in general.
