

National Traineeship Programme Guidelines

Guideline 1

ELSA Traineeships and National Traineeship Programmes should not have cycles of application at the same time and should decide on specific dates of application.

Guideline 2

The National Traineeship Programmes shall not use the same brand or the same logo as ELSA Traineeships and should have a significantly different name from ELSA Traineeships.

Guideline 3

ELSA Traineeships and National Traineeship Programme should have different target audiences, both for Job Hunting and Student Hunting. Job Hunting should be focused on small National or Local firms/companies interested in having students know the National Law, for the National Traineeship Programme and on big firms/organizations for ELSA Traineeships. If ELSA Officers want to contact big firms/companies for their National Traineeship Programme, they should first propose participation in ELSA Traineeships. They should also explain to the professionals the differences between the two programmes. Student Hunting should be focused on students who are not interested in going abroad for National Traineeship Programme and on international students who want to experience new cultures for ELSA Traineeships.

Guideline 5

National Traineeship Programmes and their organisers shall respect the contact procedures established by ELSA International.

Guideline 6

National Traineeship Programmes should be open to any students part of ELSA.

Guideline 7

ELSA Groups organising a National Traineeship Programme shall decide on a Verification and Matching strategy locally or nationally.

Guideline 8

ELSA Groups organising a National Traineeship Programme shall decide on a Marketing strategy for their project.

Guideline 9

ELSA International should create a database where ELSA Groups can share their advice and best practices about the creation and the running of the National Traineeship Programme.
